Deep hole trial to begin Monday

By WAYNE DUCOMBS JR.
Hawcock County and U.S. Govt. attorneys Monday morning will be pitted against lawyers representing survivors of eight deep hole drownings in a federal court action.

Daniel Thomas of Mobile, a U.S. District Judge, will preside in the trial, which is set to begin at 9 a.m. in the large second-floor courtroom in the Federal Building at 101 N. Main St.

Visitors Center featuring Saturn film

The Visitors Center at the National Space Center in Huntsville, Ala., will feature a film about the Saturn rocket and the Space Shuttle program. The film, titled "Saturn: The Road to the Moon," will be shown in the center's auditorium. The film is a 15-minute production that details the development of the Saturn rocket and the challenges of the Apollo program.

Eight arrested on drug charges

Eight people were arrested Monday morning on drug charges in the city of Huntsville. The arrests were made by the Huntsville Police Department and the Alabama State Police. The charges include possession of controlled substances and distribution of controlled substances. The arrested individuals are being held in the city jail.

Local school children were preparing research papers about the situation. The incident was reported by a local newspaper, the "Hawcock Star-Ledger," which is a daily newspaper published in Hawcock, Miss. The newspaper is owned by the Hawcock Publishing Co. and is published by John P. Smith, Jr. The newspaper is a member of the National Association of Publishers.

Local officials report some 25 people have drowned in the hole during the past year. The hole was discovered in 1976 by a local resident, who reported it to the local authorities. The hole was found to be a deep, narrow opening in the ground, which was several feet deep and several feet wide. The hole was located in a residential area, and it was found to be a serious hazard to the community. The local authorities have taken steps to seal the hole, but the hole has reopened several times since then.

A Gulf Coast Research Laboratory official in Ocean Springs recently reported the hole area and determined that it would be feasible to determine if the hole was a natural formation or if it was the result of human activity.

Firefighters training to handle radioactivity

By EDGAR PEREZ
Some 16 Diamondhead firefighters are undergoing a special training course in detecting and monitoring radiological contamination. The course is being conducted by the U.S. Coast Guard and the U.S. Navy. The firefighters are being trained to handle radioactive materials in the event of a nuclear accident. The training includes instruction on the properties of radioactive materials, the use of radiation detection equipment, and the procedures for handling radioactive materials.

years ago in U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Mississippi in Biloxi by survivors of deep hole victims number 12 through 24. Three victims include Francisco J. Verrett, 23, on June 15, 1976; Peter Wells Jr., 24; Demetrius Myles, 24; Staveland, 18; Randall T. Shortt, 25; and Freddie Brown, 17, all of New Orleans; and Marty R. Butler of Hammond, La., all on June 4, 1977, and Dale J. Berry, 25, of Slidell on June 3, 1979.

The combined amount of damages sought in the suit is exactly $7,766,900. Initially, the U.S. Government, an unnamed project engineer, prime contractor Farrell Construction Co. of Tennessee, and subcontractors Kingfisher Marine Services of Texas and Janchuk Drilling Co. of Louisiana were named as defendants in the suit. Now all the contractors have been excluded from the suit because they apparently followed contract specifications which called for dredging no closer than 1,500 feet from the shoreline. However, the U.S. Government included the county as a defendant based on a October 15, 1969 resolution by the TRIAL—Page 2A

Port body locks doors against public, press

By BRENT MACEY
The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission Thursday locked its doors against the public and press and refused to admit anyone into its Hwy 66 office building.

The commission reportedly was meeting in executive session with prospective tenants interested in locating at the Seville when commission member Ronald Artigue denied entrance to the building to a Sea Coast Echo reporter attempting to cover the commission meeting. Artigue blamed the reporter, plagued by heat and dropping temperatures, for standing outside on the unsheltered commission grounds until a two-hour executive session was concluded. The reporter found the commission building locked when he arrived for the 7:30 p.m. recess meeting at 7:35 p.m. At a regular commission meeting Sept. 10, executive director Wilson Webb demanded a Sea Coast Echo reporter

AN ADVICE FROM A REGISTERED DIETITIAN

Counting calories vital to reducing

There are different ways to counting calories and planning a nutritious diet for the same time. A dietitian recommends counting calories as a means of controlling the variety of foods from each of the four food groups and planning a diet to control total calories for the day.

The American Medical Association's popular diet planning, "The Healthy Approach," has a counting point out that counting calories is convenient to use in a diet approach, such as a weight-reduction program, but has already counted the calories and balanced the diet to some extent. The method plan in the approach you fill in the details after a few days of practice. You may discover that you can control calories without actually counting them.

Don't limit the variety of foods that you eat. You have a range of food and a variety of day to day food. Think about calories and vegetables, you need more variety in your diet.

A good nutrition is best secured by including many different items from each of the four food groups. These are milk group, including cheese, meat group, bread, fruit, vegetable group, and vegetable group.

Some fat is needed in the diet, such as butter, margarine, but the fat should be moderate. Sweets should be limited. You can control calories by eating a variety of foods. ## IRANIAN ORdeal

Two guests on "The Tom Cottle Show" talk about problems and solving problems. In a special edition of "The Tom Cottle Show," Iranian hostage William Keough talks about his 16-month ordeal in Iran at 2 p.m. Sunday, September 20, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

PENSION FUND BENEFIT

Danny Kaye will conduct a gala Pension Fund Benefit performance of the New York Philharmonic to be telecast live on public television. "Live from Lincoln Center" at 8 p.m. Wednesday September 23, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

Perhaps the only conductor in the world who cannot read a note of music, Danny Kaye has been conducting orchestras for more than 25 years and has helped raise more than $5 million for orchestra musicians' pension funds.

Kaye began his conducting career in 1954 when, as a joke, he agreed to conduct a Philadelphia Orchestra benefit. The event was a success and invitations soon followed from symphony orchestras around the world. Among the other major orchestras he has conducted are those of Amsterdam, Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Cleveland, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, London, Minneapolis, Montreal, San Francisco, Stockholm, and Israel. For these benefits, Kaye donates his services.

"It may start out formal," Kaye says about his upcoming concert, "but it won't stay that way. We play the music straight—no stopping through it—but what comes between the numbers, well, it's not serious. I love the symphony and have the greatest respect for it, but I think a little clowning removes some of the secrecy and solemnity that has grown up around serious music. I don't think I have permanently damaged any orchestra."

However, he generally breaks a dozen more before the concert.

TV II NOSTALGIA

GLI Live, a special program of nostalgia recalling the music and the entertainers of World War II, will be telecast at 1 p.m. Tuesday, September 22, on the Mississippi ETV Network. It was first seen in public television last year.

New York's historic Roseland Ballroom is the setting for the salute to the performers of the canteens and service organizations who offered their talent to boost the morale of allied servicemen during World War II. Hosted by Dan Johnson, the program features singers Maxene Andrews, Hildegarde, Maxine Sullivan, Andy Russell, Connie Haines and John Raitt. Also on the program are Cab Calloway, the Nicholas Brothers, Roy Eldridge and June Allyson. Chariton Hester makes a special guest appearance to pay tribute to the American Theater Wing, which created the legendary Stage Door Canteen.

Catahoula ceremony unites Lee, Haas

Deborah Marie Haas became the bride of Austin Rodrick Lee in a 3 p.m. ceremony September 5 at Catahoula Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Rita T. Haas of Kiln and the late Don R. Haas. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Forest M. Lee of Catahoula.

Rev. John E. Moore officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Vows were repeated under a heart shaped arch, and candelabrum were adorned with white daisy and cushion poms, dusty pink carnations and baby's breath. Flower decorated wicker fans decorated the church walls and an arrangement of flowers was placed on the piano.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Barbara Larsen of Kiln and Greg Dossett of Catahoula.

Given in marriage by her brother, Don R. Haas, the bride wore a formal gown of white organza, fashioned with keyhole neckline, bishop sleeves and Renaissance bodice accented with Chantilly lace and seed pearls. Her triple flounced skirt swept to a chapel length train and her lace and pearl trimmed headpiece held a veil of silk illusion edged in lace.

She carried a cascade of white daisies and roses interspersed with green leaves and satin ribbon, with satin streamers.

Rise Dossett of Catahoula, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Tammy Haas of Kiln, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Lisa Travira and Norma Garcia of Bay St. Louis, cousins of the bride; and Carey Prince of Pass Christian.

The attendants were attired in formal gowns of rosebud silks, featuring blouson bodices, butterfly sleeves and pleated skirt. They wore floral wreaths in their hair and carried nosegays of dusty pink roses, daisies and forget-me-nots with baby's breath and ribbon streamers.

Flower girl was Miss

Christy Lumpkin of Picayune, cousin of the groom; and ring bearer was Christopher Russ of Bay St. Louis.

Miss Barbara Jean Travira of Bay St. Louis, cousin of the bride, was rice girl.

Cedric Lumpkin of Picayune, cousin of the groom, was best man.

Groomsmen were Richard Necaise of Kiln; Wayne Lee of Necaise Crossing, cousin of the groom; Jeff Larsen of Kiln, cousin of the bride; and Ernest Garriga of Catahoula.

Ushers were Garland Cuevas of Kiln and Mark Garcia of Bay St. Louis, cousin of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose for the occasion a formal mauve gown with matching lace jacket. The groom's mother was attired in a formal blue gown with pleated yoke.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Jourdan River Shores Club House. Assisting were Ms. Lillie Hart of Kiln and Myrtis Dossett of Catahoula.

For traveling to the Ozark Mountains, the bride chose a white sundress with belted waistline and pleated skirt and lace-yoked jacket with cap sleeves. Maroon accessories completed her ensemble.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. D.W. Lee and daughter Arlene; Mr. and Mrs. John Fleming Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Smith and Mr. Michael Garcia.

Forte, Lott exchange vows at OLG

MR. AND MRS. GERALD R. FORTE

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church formed the setting for the August 29 exchange of vows uniting Darlene Mary Lott and Gerald R. Forte.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilary W. Lott of Bay St. Louis. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Vincent P. Forte of Pass Christian.

Rev. Henry McInerney officiated at the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony. The main altar was decorated with two arrangements of pink carnations and white gladioli interspersed with baby's breath.

Two silk roses were placed at the statue of the Blessed Mother.

Nuptial music was provided by vocalist, Deloris Dalrymple of Perkinston, accompanied by organist Vic Frankiewicz.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk sheer organza fashioned with Victorian neckline and sheer yoke enhanced with lace, fitted sleeves and A-line skirt extending to chapel length train. She carried a bouquet of white roses and rosebuds and pink rosebuds accented with rose and pink ribbon streamers.

Kim Pavolini of Pass Christian attended the bride as matron of honor. Sherrie Ladner of Bay St. Louis was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mary Ladner of Waveland; Vicki Lott of Pass Christian, sister-in-law of the bride; and Shirley Forte of Gulfport, sister of the groom.

The attendants were identically attired in formal gowns of rose jersey, fashioned with pleated skirts and draped necklines adorned with Venice lace. They wore circular wreaths of baby's breath and rose colored flowers and carried single stemmed roses accented with baby's breath and rose and pink ribbon streamers.

Miss Kasey Pavolini of Pass Christian was miniature bride.

Randy Forte of Pass Christian served his brother as best man.

Groomsmen were Marty Keel of Pass Christian; Donald Sessum of Long Beach; Donald Lott of Pass Christian, brother of the bride; and Tom Bishop of Long Beach.

Ushers were Ken Forte of Long Beach, brother of the groom; and Pete McArthur of Waveland.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a formal gown of blue jersey fashioned with pleated skirt and chiffon cape. The mother of the groom was attired in a formal gown of pink polyester with chiffon overlay.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Bay St. Louis. Decorations included arrangements of white, rose and pink flowers with ribbon streamers.

Assisting at the reception were: Lillie Hart of Kiln and Myrtis Dossett of Catahoula. For traveling to the Ozark Mountains, the bride chose a white sundress with belted waistline and pleated skirt and lace-yoked jacket with cap sleeves. Maroon accessories completed her ensemble.

McCulloch, Regula wed in N. J.

Susan Ann Regula and James Lawrence McCulloch were united in marriage in a 2:30 p.m. ceremony August 15 at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church in Washington Township, New Jersey.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stephen Regula Jr. of Westwood, N.J. The groom's parents are Mrs. Donald McCulloch of Bay St. Louis and the late Mr. McCulloch.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk net with lace inserts over bridal taffeta featuring fitted bodice, full skirt and net and lace gauntlets. Her mantilla style veil of silk illusion was bordered with lace.

Karen Marie Regula, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Deirdre Finn of New Jersey, Mrs.

Ellen Regula of Orlando, Fla., sister-in-law of the bride; and Mrs. Janet Thomas of Tampa, Fla.

James Thomas of Tampa, Fla. was best man. Groomsmen were Albert S. Regula III of New Jersey, brother of the bride; Thomas Chester and Stephen Nulke, both of New Orleans, La.

The bride's mother was attired in a formal gown of dusty pink chiffon with gardenia corsage.

The mother of the groom chose for the occasion a long gown of dark blue crepe with three-quarter length jacket of pink and navy chiffon. An orchid corsage completed her ensemble.

A reception followed the ceremony at Woodcliff Manor in Woodcliff Lake, N.J.

On return from a honeymoon trip to Crane Beach Hotel in Barbados, the couple will reside in Tampa, Fla.

Attending from Bay St. Louis were Mrs. Don McCulloch, Linda McCulloch, Aaron Adams and Lee Jay Hayden.

Bitterweeds are blooming in profusion in the neutral grounds of US-90 as traffic nears the Bay Bridge.

These sunshine yellow "weeds" are really wild daisies and the name bitterweed, so I am told, was given them because when grazing cows feed on this daisy the milk they produce is extremely bitter.

The stem of the plant also gives off an offensive odor when bruised.

St. Monica Guild of Trinity Episcopal Church in Pass Christian has set the date for its annual Rummage Sale, Friday afternoon, Nov. 8 and Saturday morning, Nov. 9, at the church.

Mrs. M. E. Touline of Main Street has solved the problem of dogs tearing into her garbage bags and overturning cans. She adds a cup of elvex bleach to each container.

"The dogs just sniff the bleach and leave," she said.

ETV Briefs

FOLK HERITAGE

The next program in Mississippi ETV's "Accents" series focuses on a special program underway at Port Gibson High School and focuses on the Commission on Judicial Performance.

The program can be seen at noon Sunday, Sept. 20, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

The first segment involves the Mississippi Cultural Crossroads project in Port Gibson whereby young black men and women interview and photograph persons who are preserving the folk heritage of their community and region, and in so doing, they develop skills in photography and related media arts. Questioned the segment are Patricia Cosby, project director of Mississippi Cultural Crossroads, and David Deane, editor of "I am young," and Vincent Goode and Darryl Warner, both of Port Gibson High School.

Watch for the second segment in Port Gibson, Miss., which focuses on the Commission on Judicial Performance. The segment will focus on the commission which is made up of judges and laymen from various parts of the state, and is charged with the task of recommending ways to improve the judicial system.

Story Hour titles listed

Pre-school children and their parents or teachers are invited to story hour each Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis Library. The first story to be read will be "Harry The Dirty Dog" by Gene Zion. The story was to be read last week but wasn't because of the large number of children attending. "Never Hit A Porcupine" by Barbara Williams will be read next with the use of film cards. The last story to be read will be "Once A Mouse" by Maria Brown. Story hour will conclude with a motion picture film of the Hans Christian Andersen tale, "The Ugly Duckling."

There's an Answer!

Marriage needs fun.
Q. My husband came from a negative home with much criticism and has carried the burden to our marriage. His blowing up at most anything I say is running communication. Sometimes I rise above the problem, but more often I do not. If I walk away in silence it does not phase him at all. For years I have been apologetic to him for my failures and shortcomings, but that does not phase him.

Sometimes I get bawled out just for asking a question, so I quit asking, which sounds like an adolescent-parent relationship. Our marriage needs more fun and spontaneity, but there is too much strictness in him. What can I do?

A. Perhaps you have answered your own question. More fun and spontaneity would help. Why did he marry you? Was it not because you were charming, fun, as you were then? Try to figure out how you looked, talked, laughed and acted and try to be that way again.

Q. When my husband and I visited relatives last year our son and his girlfriend were there also — with their one-month-old baby. It was a shock to us to find out this way that we had a granddaughter. We hadn't even known the girl was pregnant. Well, they never married and my son has seen the baby maybe twice. He doesn't support the baby.

A. As parents and grandparents tell your irresponsible son the facts of life — that the baby is his responsibility. Consult the proper agency to ascertain how the law can require him to do so. This nifty-pammy boy has got to pay the piper. Maybe doing so will make some kind of man of him.

Q. What do I do about an assistant principal who hates my guts, and for every little thing I do she suspends me for a ridiculous amount of days? She's pretty old, gray hair, kind of chubby and has an ear-piercing voice. Everybody in the whole school hates her (no exaggeration).

A. If everybody in the school hates this woman she has to be aware of that. So just think how she would feel about a student who would actually love her.

This doesn't mean to butter her up. First have sympathy for her. For something is making her unhappy. This accounts for the treatment of students. Practice compassion toward her. She'll get it after awhile.

And how about surprising this woman by stopping doing anything she might suspend you for?

Q. I found out that my husband's best friend was trying to seduce my husband. I told her to stay away from him, and my husband has also told her that. But every time she calls him, she happens to appear or call. My husband is very quiet, person, very gentle, good and trusting. We discuss a lot of things when we have the time. But I work days and he works nights and we and acted and try to be that way again.

A. He sounds to me like an honest man and good husband. Don't let suspicion sour your trust and love. But that is not to say that you shouldn't be very firm and not tell the other woman that you won't tolerate her actions. He needs protection from this type of female. And in addition, you and your husband need to make time to be together.

Q. Our son, a senior at college, has a girlfriend who is hard-working and respectable but, try as we may, our family cannot seem to make friends with her. When she visits in our home during their breaks from college, she stays pretty much to herself, even exercising (she's a dance major) during our mealtime. She seldom smiles and is so argumentative. Our son has changed from a confident, enthusiastic young man to a nervous, suspicious, and complaining person. Should we be honest with our son and express our fears about this relationship or remain silent and pray? I don't want to invade his privacy and cause ill feelings, yet we are troubled ahead.

A. Yes, of course, you should speak to your son. The girl acts very odd, to say the least. Since she seems to have an adverse effect on the boy, you have a right to be concerned.
